TRACEGAINS

Networked Intelligence

Global horizon scanning and scientific data for your ingredient supply chain.

The World Today

Every ingredient in your supply chain has the potential to create risk, but the information you need to stay ahead is spread over dozens of data sources, making data hard to find, and making issues easy to miss.

Your World Tomorrow

Relevant, real-time data from around the world can be mapped to your ingredient supply chain, providing research updates and alerts automatically, in context, when the data matters most.

Why We're Different

Ingredients are surrounded by critical data, but it isn't always visible. TraceGains draws on thousands of global data sources to make Networked Ingredient data visible at every stage of your business, while keeping it relevant to the materials you source and use.

What We Do

- Industry-leading horizon scanning and research data mapped to the ingredients you use, letting you source and monitor with confidence.
- Configurable Watchlists for ingredients and suppliers.
- Seamless enterprise integration for instant identification of impacted products and formulas.
- Collaboration tools and team Workspaces built in.

Global visibility.
Real world relevance.

gather.tracegains.com